Little girl, I tell you to get up!

The Gospel, which recounts Our Lord healing a woman's chronic infirmity and bringing life to the young daughter of Jairus, shows us the power given to Him to bring about true restoration. For both the afflicted woman and Jairus, Our Lord praises their faith in His power to do such great things.

There are times in life when we desperately wish that God would perform a miracle to take away our pain or suffering, something extraordinary like the healings described in our Gospel. Without doubt, God still does work miracles like these, if He sees them necessary for our growth in holiness and our salvation. However, God's healing work is often subtle and ordinary. It can even appear slow from our perspective, seeming not to be a miracle at all. Many times, the response God gives to our fervent prayers is newfound strength to bear difficulties, clarity amidst the confusion that may emerge, or peace that our hearts need in the midst of a real storm. These are not a "consolation prize" in place of receiving God's favour. Instead, these are true expressions of the healing touch and gentle mercy of Our Lord, real answers to the prayers of faith we present to Him.

FREEDOM TO LIVE FULLY UNTIL DEATH COMES.

Providing compassionate care at the end of life

To address the sensitive issue of compassionate care at the end of life, and in response to the need to inform the faithful of Catholic teaching on this important life issue that affects so many families, the Bishops of Ireland have published the pastoral letter. "Freedom to Live Fully, Until Death Comes" and a video "Through the Valley". They assert that every person possesses inherent, infinite dignity that remains intact regardless of their circumstances. Bishops strongly oppose the Oireachtas Committee's proposal to legislate for assisted suicide, and call on support for healthcare workers who uphold the sanctity of life.
